PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Delegates,

Welcome to RACP Congress 2018.

In so many fields today, we live in an era not just of change, but wholesale transformation.

Medicine is no exception. We hope this Congress, themed 'Disruption for Healthy Futures' will allow you to understand and harness the many fundamental shifts we are seeing across healthcare, to enhance and improve your practice.

International experts will speak with us about maintaining sustainability of healthcare amidst disruption; of the implications of associated meta-trends such as climate change, and the many disruptive technologies now emerging that may have implications for future clinical practice.

This year RACP Congress is again based around our shared interests, addressing broad themes that appeal cross-speciality to all of us, as Specialists Together.

I hope you find the program stimulating and informative.

C. E. Yelland.

THE RACP FOUNDATION — SEARCHING FOR TOMORROW'S CURES TODAY

THE RACP Foundation proudly provides financial support to Fellows and trainees pursuing careers in medical research.

Over $2 million is offered annually through fellowships, scholarships, grants and prizes.

A fellowship from the College often provides that vital first research grant that leads to more substantial funding being secured.

A detailed list of awards and more information regarding eligibility criteria is available on the Foundation website <https://www.racp.edu.au/about/racp-foundation-awards>

Acknowledging Excellence

The RACP understands the importance of recognising the outstanding contributions and achievements of its Fellows and trainees. Every year the Foundation receives nominations for prizes and medals which acknowledge these individuals nominated by their peers. Many medals and prizes are presented annually at RACP Congress and are valued greatly for their prestige.

Nominations for 2019 will open immediately after Congress. For full details visit www.racp.edu.au/about/racp-foundation-awards/college-congress-prizes

Indigenous health scholarships and prizes

As part of its continuing commitment to improve specialist medical care for Indigenous communities, the College launched its Indigenous Health Scholarship Program in 2014. Through the program medical students and graduates who identify as being of Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander, Māori or Pacific Islander heritage are able to undertake physician training through a funded pathway. Eleven Scholarships have been awarded and more are on offer.

Details about the program can be found on the website at:
