

My Work Profile – Frequently asked questions

What is My Work Profile?

My Work Profile is an online tool in MyRACP, which is used to collect data on the practice types, specialties, work locations and hours worked by the physician and paediatric workforce.

Why does the College need it?

As a response to this, we are updating our records to enable us and other stakeholders including government policy-makers to make informed decisions that impact of members. To make these decisions we require an accurate, detailed and up-to-date database. To achieve this, we are asking you to take five minutes to tell us about your professional work activities.

How does it benefit me?

Help us help you by spending five minutes to complete your My Work Profile.

Results will be made available to you and will help:

- New Fellows decide which geographic area to work in Australia and New Zealand
- New Fellows choose between private or public practice
- you understand how your work hours compare with your peers
- the RACP and other stakeholders including government policy-makers make better workforce decisions, based on current holistic data
- Fellows understand activities they are undertaking; research, administration or clinical

What will my data be used for?

It will help policy makers to make informed decisions. The RACP is not responsible for hiring practices, nor can we provide advice on where a doctor should seek work; but we can provide data to assist decision-making.

Who will be able to see my information?

Your personal information will be kept private in line with the RACP's privacy policy and will not be publicly shared.

Will the information I submit be made public?

The College will provide aggregated and anonymised data to stakeholders including members. The data you enter will be stored in a secure data facility.

Do I need to participate if I'm overseas?

Not at this time.

Is it compulsory?

No, but the accuracy of this database depends on how many College Fellows participate.

How often can I update My Work Profile?

We will only ask you once per year to update My Work Profile, but you are able to update it any time when your circumstances change in MyRACP.

I don't understand how to fill in My Work Profile. Can you help me?
